Previous iteration

Starting point

- ☐ Support to all existing features
- ☐ Big top bar with info
- ☐ Big sections
- ☐ Gradients
- ☐ Nice to have: “Fluent Design” (animated icons)
- ☐ Clean and simple
- ☐ Smart use of accent colors
- ☐ Space to breathe
- ☐ Good use of contrast
- ☐ Some elements has been re-organized
- ☐ Needs to have support for future options
- ☐ Content ordered on cards
- ☐ Visual and text combined
- ☐ Make use of action buttons
- ☐ Designs needs to look and feel like part of the same family
- ☐ Options needs to correspond to icons already used on common navigation

Welcome to the GCwiki! [edit source]
The GCwiki is a public wiki hosted by the Government of Canada to facilitate collaboration and knowledge sharing. Like GCcollab, the wiki is open to public servants from all levels of government, academics and students from Canadian universities and colleges, external partners, and anyone by invitation. The wiki supplements existing work on GCcollab and will host information, working documents, and projects from communities across Canada.
Please note that the GCwiki is currently in its beta development phase. If you encounter any issues or would like to provide feedback, please contact the GCTools Help Desk. If you would like to get involved in the development of the GCwiki, send us a message and let us know what you're working on.
Why the GCwiki? [edit source]
-Work in the open: share your ideas, information, and projects as they unfold and by doing so, find diverse partners and connections in real-time.
-Create together: draft projects and connect with your peers in other departments, sectors, or regions across Canada.
-Connect-the-dots: consider the GCwiki like a public square – an online space where Canadians connect to share ideas across interdisciplinary communities to create solutions for public benefit.
About the Platform [edit source]
The GCwiki content is available to the public, however, users must have an account and be logged in if they wish to add or modify content.
Wikis are designed to be collaborative. Pages do not have "owners", but instead, they have creators and editors. Any member of a wiki can create and edit articles. The collaborative nature of wikis creates interactive
